Gregory Cox's fatherhood journey is a story that inspires hope. Thirty years ago he was a young, neglectful father addicted to drugs and alcohol and a perpetrator of domestic violence. His children were removed from his home by DCFS.

Today, Gregory is a certified parent instructor and a seasoned public speaker who promotes positive parenting. He has co-authored two books, The Parents Get Real Guide to Getting Your Kids Back, and The Parents Get Real Guide to Keeping Your Kids at Home. He is also the author of Promising the Moon—an autobiography of his parenting journey from neglect to becoming a thriving father for his children. In this presentation Gregory will give practical suggestions to parents and providers about how we can grow better together.
